IG ALENTEJO WHITE WINE

GRAPE VARIETIES

Antão Vaz, Gouveio, Viosinho and Verdelho.

WINEMAKING & AGEING

Grapes are harvested at dawn, when its cooler, and transported to the cellar, where the wort is separated and clarified by the traditional process known as "bica aberta" or "off skins" process.

Fermentation takes place over 21 days, always at low temperatures (12°C to 14°C) in order to privilege the aromatic expression of wines. The entire process until bottling is totally free from any animal origin products.

WINEMAKER

Carlos Eduardo.

TASTING NOTES

Open citrus colored wine, stone fruit aromas (plum and apricot) and some mineralization. Fresh mouth and balanced acidity.

THE REGION

Alentejo is the largest wine region in Portugal and also the one with the greatest diversity as it gathers eight different sub-regions: Portalegre, Borba, Redondo, Reguengos, Évora, Vidigueira, Moura and Granja-Amareleja. Its 22,000 hectares of vineyards spread across plains, hills and mountains (the main ones are S. Mamede, Ossa and Mendro), and those vineyards lay on different types of soil: clay, limestone, marble, sand, schist, granite...

The climate is continental Mediterranean, with greater thermal amplitudes in the interior regions, closer to the border with Spain. The Alentejo vineyard reflects a wide variety of grapes, with predominance of white grapes Antão Vaz, Roupeiro and Arinto and red grapes Aragonez, Trincadeira, Alicante Bouschet, Touriga Nacional and Syrah.

THE BRAND

The cotton fiber does not bring environmental impact, since its material is organic, and it takes about three months just to decompose completely. Cotton fibers are those which are originated by the surface of the seeds themselves. These seeds are also utilized in obtaining an edible oil.
