THE REGION

Casa das Gaeiras located in Óbidos stands out for its tradition and typicality of old vines. From the garden to the house, many marks are representative of the 18th century. On this label, we illustrate one of them: the heraldic symbols present on the walls of the noble hall.

WINEMAKING

Open spout fermentation with temperature control at 15°C.

TASTING NOTES

The Fernão Pires variety, Portugal's most classic white grape, is known as Maria Gomes. It's a variety with a strong personality and intense aromas and flavors. However, in the Atlantic terroir at the Casa das Gaeiras in Óbidos, it displays an uncommon freshness, vivacity and elegance.
